A well-known keeper maintained the light.

The state-of-the-art apparatus recorded everything.

Self-evident conclusions require no further argument.

The measurements were inconclusive and the committee reconsidered the entire programme the following morning.

An em-dash pause — like this — interrupts the sentence.